FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for Middlebury Tile & Stonework's New Stone Workshop to be held on January 30th

Middlebury, VT --- Middlebury Tile & Stoneworks has a new home and it's no longer in the living room, garage or front yard of owners Dave and Paley Anderson.

After an exhaustive 3 year search throughout Middlebury, the business has a new location for its stone fabrication workshop and a small showroom where clients can view samples of natural stone like granite, marble, slate and soapstone. On January 30, 2007 at 5:00pm, Ted Shambo of the Addison County Chamber of Commerce will officiate at a Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for Middlebury Tile & Stonework's new workshop at 54 Creek Road, off Route 7 South, in Middlebury.

As Addison County's tile installation specialists and premiere stone fabricators, the company has built its strong reputation on artistic tile work for floors, bathrooms and kitchens and custom, hand-crafted countertops, vanities, hearth stones and other stone products, competitively priced. The Andersons believe that superior customer service and a commitment to quality workmanship have been the corner stones of their success and subsequent need to expand. The move to a modern fabrication facility will enhance productivity and efficiency while employing environmentally friendly methods.

Dave has more than 20 years experience as a home builder and in the last eight years has exclusively pursued his passion for tile and stone work. Paley comes to the business with a background in marketing, design and a love for working closely with clients to realize their visions.
